Corstorphine Police and Magic Show

The day started with English and Concert practise. The music we overheard from the kitchen was great. I can't wait to see it on the 26th. Invite all your friends! After this we headed off to Corstorphine Police station.

The police worked hard to give the children a brilliant morning (and lunch!). First off we had a go-cart competition, I am not sure who won as near the end the First Brigade turned up with their fire engine!!

The Police had an armed response unit there with guns to try out - this seemed to appeal to the boys who picked up the technique very quickly!

The riot police had a van with all the gear for the children to try on.

The motorcycle police had a bike, next to which a long queue formed for a try out.....the siren button was well used!

The dog handler had two dogs with him who at his own admission were loopy (I don't think I have ever seen a dog fall backwards with excitement!); but well liked and performed a search in the bushes well!

Finally the fire brigade let the children climb
all over the engine and use the hose. Bliss!

After all the excitement, we went inside to have our fingerprints taken. I am not convinced that they all got more ink on the sheet than themselves! Afterwards we had a delicious lunch of sandwiches, fruit, chocolate biscuits and crisps- the fruit was eaten just as quickly as the crisps which was great to see!

Thanks to Martin and all at the station for a brilliant visit.

We arrived back at the hall for some quiet time and a DVD. Whilst it was happening the kitchen was a den of activity getting supper ready (putting out all the food brought along) for the magic show..... Tricky Ricky was brill and despite the language barrier, the Belarusian children were in hysterics! Thanks to all who came and contributed food. YUM!
