St Nicholas Primary School, Broxburn

This morning we went to St. Nicholas Primary School in Broxburn. Several of our host brothers and sisters attend here. The children were split into two groups and went with P4 and P5 classes. They were introduced to the local boys and girls with a question and answer session. The Scottish children were very interested in our group and, as children often do, asked some straight to the point questions. Both sets of children wanted to know about each other's school experiences, what they liked to do away from school and their backgrounds. After morning break they played games together, as always language is no barrier to children when games and having fun together is involved; in fact it sometimes adds to the whole enjoyment of the moment. Duck Duck Goose in two languages and relay races involving mixed teams!

The afternoon was a more sedate time, concert preparation and having fun in the church hall.
